Introduction

To enter a workplace, a union official must hold a work health and safety entry permit. To obtain a work health and safety entry permit, a union official must:

- have satisfactorily completed the prescribed work health and safety training that relates to the entry permit
- hold an entry permit under the Fair Work Act 2009 (FW Act) or the Industrial Relations Act 1996 (IR Act)
- have had the application for a work health and safety entry permit endorsed by their union.

An entry permit is valid for three years but can be revoked if the permit is misused.

The prescribed training for the purposes of sections 131 and 133 of the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 (WHS Act) is training, that is provided or approved by SafeWork NSW (the Regulator). For this purpose, SafeWork NSW has approved a standard Entry Permit Holder (EPH) Training Course for delivery in NSW by SafeWork NSW approved training providers (ATPs). Approval is for a period of five years.

These conditions are provided to ensure the structured administration by ATPs for the delivery of the approved Entry Permit Holder Training Course and contain a step-by-step process for complying with these conditions. Non-compliance with these conditions may lead to the suspension and/or cancellation of a training provider's approval. In addition to the conditions, ATPs will need to refer to the:

- NSW work health and safety legislation
- How to become a SafeWork NSW approved provider of entry permit holder training (catalogue no. SW08459). This document can be found on the SafeWork NSW website www.safework.nsw.gov.au
- advertising specifications for training providers delivering SafeWork NSW approved EPH training (advertising specifications) as detailed in part 2.5
- SafeWork NSW Entry Permit Holder Training Course manual.

These approval conditions become effective on 1 October 2022.

1. Principal conditions of approval

All SafeWork NSW approvals to deliver EPH training in NSW are for a fixed period, as stated in an approval document.

Within these conditions, the term 'approved training provider' or 'ATP' includes individual trainers, registered training organisations and other training organisations who are approved by SafeWork NSW to deliver the SafeWork NSW EPH training.

All ATPs must comply with the following conditions:

- a. Comply with all work health and safety, injury management and workers compensation legislation.
- b. Comply with all requirements specified in this document.
- c. Comply with the advertising specifications for approved training providers delivering SafeWork NSW EPH training.
- d. Not sub-contract or on-sell the approval to deliver the training or training course materials to a person or organisation.
- e. Notify and gain approval from SafeWork NSW for all nominated trainers prior to them delivering SafeWork NSW EPH training.
- f. Notify SafeWork NSW in writing within 14 days of any nominated trainer who is no longer authorised by the ATP to deliver SafeWork NSW EPH training.
- g. Notify any change in address and/or contact details, in writing, to TACS within 14 days.
- h. Ensure all delivery of SafeWork NSW EPH training is undertaken using face-to-face delivery techniques.
- i. Ensure the continuing development and currency of knowledge of trainers in work health and safety and trainer competencies.
- j. Attend any compulsory briefings, orientation programs or assessment programs as notified by SafeWork NSW.
- k. Cooperate with all reasonable requests from SafeWork NSW in connection with their approval.
- l. Maintain ethical and professional conduct in connection with the advertising and delivery of training at all times.
- m. Protect copyright of the SafeWork NSW Entry Permit Holder Training Course materials, guides and other SafeWork NSW publications.

- p. Immediately advise SafeWork NSW, in writing, of any enforceable undertaking which has been entered into with a work health and safety regulator.
- q. Immediately advise SafeWork NSW of any criminal offence, or if their approval as a work health and safety training provider in any Australian state or territory is cancelled or suspended.
- r. Immediately report to SafeWork NSW any breach of these conditions of which they become aware.

2. Code of conduct for approved training providers

This code of conduct (the code) for the delivery of the SafeWork NSW EPH training, has been prepared to assist ATPs in achieving an acceptable standard of behaviour and ethical decision-making. The code has been developed in accordance with the principles of ethical decision-making:

- respect for the law
- respect of the system of government
- respect for the community and other people
- integrity
- diligence
- efficiency
- accountability.

2.1. Ethical and professional behaviour

Public officials

Ethical behaviour means that ATPs are fair and honest when dealing with EPH training participants. ATPs are viewed as public officials by the community and must act accordingly. All decisions an ATP makes must show good judgement and be justifiable. ATPs must show professional behaviour at all times during the conduct of their duties.

The code provides guidance to assist ATPs in deciding on the appropriate course of action in a number of specific situations. However, it is not possible for the code to describe all the circumstances that may require the exercise of ethical behaviour.

In difficult situations, ATPs will need to be guided in their actions and decision-making by referring to the principles that underpin the code and by considering the following issues:

- Is the action/decision lawful?
- Is the action/decision consistent with the spirit and intent of the code and other SafeWork NSW materials?
- Is the action/decision consistent with the spirit and intent of the SafeWork NSW scheme that the ATP is a part of?

- What are the consequences of the action/decision for the public? For SafeWork NSW? For the integrity of the ATP?
- Can the action/decision be justified – to SafeWork NSW? – to an independent person?

ATPs must take all relevant facts into consideration when making a decision and must not consider irrelevant facts.

Services must be efficiently organised to minimise disruption and avoid unnecessary costs to clients and their workplaces.

All services must be delivered to the performance standards described in these approval requirements and in line with the standards of professionalism expected of ATPs.

Model of public duty

The Independent Commission Against Corruption (ICAC) has developed a model of public duty. ATPs must act in accordance with the model.

Serving the public interest above all else. This is demonstrated by:

- Not serving own interests
- Managing conflicts of interest.
- Acting with integrity through the values below:
 - Honesty
 - obeying the law
 - following the letter and spirit of policies and procedures
 - fully disclosing actual or potential conflicts of interest
 - observing codes of conduct
 - recording reasons for decisions
 - establishing audit trails
 - submitting to scrutiny
 - keeping proper, accessible records.
 - Objectivity
 - being fair to all
 - considering only relevant matters

- being fully informed
- dispassionately assessing without fear, favour or deference
- giving reasons for decisions, where appropriate
- revealing all appeal avenues available
- giving all relevant information
- communicating with clarity and sensitivity
- reporting and dealing with suspected wrongdoing
- acting ethically above loyalty to colleagues or supervisors.
- Showing leadership. This is demonstrated by:
 - illustrating the worth of these values by example
 - promoting these values to others
 - striving for excellence

Bribes, gifts and benefits

A bribe is any offer of money, gift, service or a benefit that is offered to persuade a person to act other than according to their normal duties.

ATPs must not accept any offer of money, gifts, services or benefits that would cause them to act other than according to the conditions of their approval.

An ATP must inform any person who offers them such money, gifts, services or benefits that it is against the code to make such an offer.

To protect the integrity of ATPs, SafeWork NSW requires that an attempt to bribe an ATP must be reported to SafeWork NSW.

Competence

ATPs are approved by SafeWork NSW on the basis of the ATP upholding high levels of professional expertise. It is expected that ATPs maintain a high level of competence of themselves and their nominated trainers.

SafeWork NSW may revoke the approval of an ATP if there is evidence of deterioration in the ATP's standard of competence.

Conflict of interest

A conflict of interest is a situation where an ATP or their nominated trainer could be influenced (or seen to be influenced) by a personal interest in carrying out their duties.

Sound judgement must be used to avoid conflicts of interest.

Examples of possible conflicts of interest include:

- undertaking services for:
 - friends and relatives
 - businesses in which the ATP, their nominated trainers, friends or family have an interest
 - personal beliefs or attitudes that can influence providing services impartially
 - personal relationships with people the agency is dealing with and/or investigating that go beyond the level of a professional working relationship
 - any financial or other personal interest that could directly or indirectly influence or compromise the ATP or nominated trainer in performing services
 - disclosing sensitive or confidential information gained through employment by SafeWork NSW to another organisation.

ATPs can contact SafeWork NSW for advice when dealing with conflicts of interest.

Other employment

ATPs must not undertake other employment that may compromise the integrity of services provided on behalf of SafeWork NSW. Other employment can provide opportunities for conflicts of interest, corrupt conduct, and misuse of resources and information.

If an ATP has any doubts about whether a conflict of interest exists, they can contact SafeWork NSW for advice.

Drugs and alcohol

The capacity of an ATP to exercise sound judgement must not be impaired by the use of alcohol, drugs or other substances.

Services must never be provided under the influence of drugs and alcohol.

A breach of this condition will result in immediate cancellation of an ATP's approval.

Discrimination

When performing services, an ATP must comply with NSW anti-discrimination legislation and not discriminate against other people on any grounds covered by anti-discrimination legislation (such as sex, marital status, pregnancy, age, race, ethnic or national origin, disability, sexual preference, sexual harassment, religion or political belief).

Political participation

As members of the community, ATPs have the right to enter into public debate. However, ATPs must ensure that any participation in political matters does not result in conflict with their duties as an ATP. This is important in order to maintain public confidence in the impartiality of the services and decisions of ATPs.

Public comment

As members of the community, all ATPs have the right to take part in public debate on issues of public concern. However, ATPs must be careful that public comments do not appear to be an official comment on behalf of SafeWork NSW or the Government.

If nominated as a spokesperson for a professional or community association, ATPs are entitled to make public comments about relevant issues. In making such statements, ATPs must clearly acknowledge that those comments are made on behalf of that association.

2.2. SafeWork NSW approved training providers

Participation in briefing sessions

From time to time, SafeWork NSW may request that ATPs attend briefing sessions designed to advise of changes to any relevant matters. SafeWork NSW will advise if attendance at these events is compulsory.

Dangerous work practices

ATPs must immediately cease an activity if it would lead to the client or other persons being placed in danger or injured.

ATPs must advise SafeWork NSW immediately if an activity that they are participating in promotes an unsafe work practice.

Identification as a SafeWork NSW approved training provider

Proof of identity as a SafeWork NSW ATP allows for verification of approval. The ATP's SafeWork NSW approval certificate must be shown to clients and other people who need to confirm that SafeWork NSW has approved the training provider to deliver SafeWork NSW EPH training.

Collecting SafeWork NSW fees

ATPs must not collect any funds under the auspices of SafeWork NSW. For example, ATPs must not claim that training fees are charged by SafeWork NSW.

2.3. Cooperation with SafeWork NSW

False declarations

A SafeWork NSW ATP must not make false or misleading declarations in their dealings with SafeWork NSW or during the performance of their service activities. A declaration may be misleading if information is omitted or presented in a manner that enables a misleading view of a situation to be formed. This includes:

- failure to comply with reporting requirements
- falsifying records or other documents.

ATPs must not collude with clients or other parties with the intention of providing false or misleading information. ATPs must take all measures to maintain the integrity of the services they provide and their records.

Cooperation with SafeWork NSW

It is a condition of approval of ATPs that they agree to be audited by SafeWork NSW as required. ATPs must cooperate fully with SafeWork NSW officers who are undertaking audit and verification activities. This includes:

- responding honestly to questions
- ensuring availability of records
- cooperating fully with SafeWork NSW officers conducting approval, and verification activities such as information gathering, observation, monitoring, audits and reviews.

At all times, SafeWork NSW staff must be professional, polite and respectful in their dealings with the general public and SafeWork NSW stakeholders (which includes ATPs and their nominated trainers). In return, ATPs must also be professional, polite and cooperative in their dealings with SafeWork NSW staff at all times.

Obstructive and unreasonable behaviour may result in a training provider's approval being denied or revoked, or disciplinary action being instigated.

Notification

SafeWork NSW has a record of each ATP's details. From time-to-time SafeWork NSW will contact ATPs regarding new initiatives, changes to services, documents, material requirements, conditions of approval, changes in legal requirements, etc.

ATPs must advise SafeWork NSW of any events which may compromise, or impact upon, the ATP's ability to deliver the training to an appropriate standard. This includes, but is not limited to: suspension or cancellation of registration by the national or a State Training Authority (for RTOs), an ATP ceasing to offer delivery of the SafeWork NSW EPH training, an ATP ceasing business or any other relevant event.

Reporting breaches of the code

ATPs must report any known or suspected corrupt behaviour or breach of the code to 3PM. This includes, but is not limited to, any actions by their nominated trainers delivering SafeWork NSW EPH training that are either corrupt or would lead to the code being breached.

Disciplinary action

ATPs play a vital part in delivering services to improve work health and safety in NSW workplaces.

The competence and integrity of ATPs are essential to the success of various SafeWork NSW initiatives.

To ensure that ATPs comply with the conditions of their approval, SafeWork NSW will audit the behaviour and performance of ATPs (against these conditions). This audit process may include, but is not limited to, observation, monitoring, audits and reviews.

SafeWork NSW will investigate any complaints made against an ATP in relation to their performance or behaviour.

Where a review or investigation by SafeWork NSW reveals a breach that impacts on the conditions of approval of an ATP, SafeWork NSW will take action depending upon the nature and severity of the breach. These actions may include:

- providing educative advice
- issuing a warning letter
- convening a counselling interview
- convening a 'show cause' interview
- reviewing an ATP's approval
- suspending an ATP's approval
- cancelling an ATP's approval
- applying a fine or penalty
- commencing prosecution action.

Criminal proceedings may also be taken where fraud is suspected.

2.4. Compliance with legislation

Health and safety compliance

SafeWork NSW requires that ATPs comply with all work health and safety, injury management and workers compensation legislation. This includes providing workers compensation insurance coverage for all employees and developing safe work practices and procedures.

Copyright

Except as expressly provided in the Copyright Act 1968 (Copyright Act), no part of SafeWork NSW publications may be reproduced by any means (including electronic, mechanical, microcopying, photocopying, recording or otherwise) without prior written permission from SafeWork NSW.

ATPs need to obtain permission from SafeWork NSW if they intend to use SafeWork NSW publications in any way other than as approved by the relevant SafeWork NSW business sector.

For example, an ATP cannot reproduce for sale any guides that have been published by SafeWork NSW.

Confidentiality

ATPs are bound by privacy legislation (Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (PPIP Act)) and must treat all information obtained as a SafeWork NSW ATP as confidential.

This means that information collected must only be used for the purpose for which it was originally collected.

All information related to clients must be kept in a secure manner. ATPs must have a secure storage system for their records.

Information related to clients can only be disclosed to other persons with written authority from SafeWork NSW.

Client information may also be disclosed if law requires the disclosure or when there is reason to believe that the use or disclosure is reasonably necessary for:

- Reducing or preventing a serious or imminent threat to an individual's life, health or safety, or preventing a serious threat to public health or safety.
- Preventing, detecting, investigating, prosecuting or punishing of criminal offences and other breaches of the law that attracts a penalty.
- Protection of public revenue.
- Preventing, detecting, investigating or remedying of seriously improper conduct or prescribed conduct.
- The preparation or conduct of proceedings before any court or tribunal.

2.5. Advertising specifications

SafeWork NSW has provided these advertising specifications to assist SafeWork NSW ATPs to uphold their conditions of approval.

Part of the conditions involves the responsibility to act honestly, maintain ethical and professional conduct, and to protect the copyright of SafeWork NSW publications, especially when advertising the delivery of training and assessment services.

Advertising of training and SafeWork NSW approval

Use of the terms: approved, nominated, accredited

ATPs are approved by SafeWork NSW to deliver specified entry permit holder training in NSW. The Entry Permit Holder Training Course is approved by SafeWork NSW.

ATPs may be a training organisation, company or sole trader. Approved ATPs must nominate the trainers who will deliver the training on their behalf.

ATPs must ensure that any advertising or publicity they undertake uses the terms approved and nominated correctly.

‘Approved’ refers only to the ATP that has SafeWork NSW approval, and SafeWork NSW must be identified as the approving authority. The term cannot be used to refer to partners or to an ATP’s individual trainers and/or assessors.

‘Nominated’ refers to the trainers that an approved ATP has nominated to conduct EPH training in NSW.

SafeWork NSW no longer ‘accredits’ trainers or training. It cannot be used in reference to trainers, nor can it be used in reference to the training itself.

General guidance

- Any advertising or publicity claiming that an ATP has SafeWork NSW approval must refer to the ATP name exactly as it has been
- approved and documented on the SafeWork NSW approval certificate.
- An ATP must not claim to be SafeWork NSW approved if it is not or while approval is pending.
- Advertising and publicity must not be misleading or ambiguous.

Audit and self-audit

Advertising and promotion material produced by ATPs may be subject to an audit by SafeWork NSW against the advertising guidelines and the conditions of approval. Non-compliance will be regarded as a breach by the ATP and may result in disciplinary action.

ATPs are encouraged to undertake regular self-audit, to ensure that their advertising and promotional material is fully compliant.

30. Training records are to be maintained by the ATP for a minimum of seven years and must be made available to SafeWork NSW on request.
 31. An ATP's records in relation to training, including notification forms, record of training forms, and applicant details, must be kept in a secure location to prevent loss or damage through theft, fire or flooding or to prevent access that would enable alteration by other persons.
 32. An ATP should attempt to make arrangements for a representative to contact TACS in the event the ATP becomes incapacitated or is otherwise not able to advise SafeWork NSW personally that they have ceased training.

4. Verification of compliance

4.1. Verification and investigation processes

To ensure the integrity and quality of the training, SafeWork NSW staff may observe and monitor any SafeWork NSW approved training course delivered by an ATP. SafeWork NSW has a systematic auditing process that reviews the conduct of ATPs in the delivery of training to ensure compliance with these conditions, the facilitator guides and course materials, and the SafeWork NSW advertising specifications.

SafeWork NSW will investigate any allegation made or complaint received against an ATP, including:

- a. inappropriate, discriminatory or corrupt behaviour
- b. inappropriate or discriminatory comments
- c. the quality of the delivery of training
- d. the suitability of venue or learning environment.

As a result of an audit or investigation, SafeWork NSW may contact the ATP requesting further information or assistance. ATPs are required to cooperate with any such request – refusal or hindrance may result in the suspension of the ATP's approval.

4.2. Penalties for non-compliance

SafeWork NSW may impose penalties on an ATP for not complying with these conditions. The level of penalty will be determined by the type, frequency and severity of the breach.

Penalties may include:

- a. educative advice
- b. corrective action – for example formal caution letters, interviews
- c. suspension of approval
- d. cancellation of approval
- e. prosecution.

Prior to any suspension or cancellation, SafeWork NSW will issue the ATP with written advice of the proposed suspension or cancellation. The ATP will be given the opportunity to make written representation to SafeWork NSW within 28 days, addressing the issues for the proposed suspension or cancellation. SafeWork NSW will consider the response when making a determination on the original decision.

If an ATP has had their approval suspended or cancelled, it may also result in the suspension or cancellation of other approvals or accreditations held by the ATP as a SafeWork NSW service provider.

New applications for approval as a work health and safety ATP may not be considered for a person who has had any relevant approval or accreditation suspended or cancelled in any state or territory within the previous five years.

4.3. Review process

If the ATP does not agree with the decision to suspend or cancel their approval, they can request an internal review.

If the ATP wishes to apply for an interval review, the appropriate form including any additional information must be submitted within 28 days of being notified of the decision to suspend or cancel the ATP's agreement.

The application needs to be completed in writing and include an Australian address for the application using the online form on the SafeWork NSW website: <https://www.safework.nsw.gov.au/resource-library/list-of-all-forms/html-forms/application-for-internal-review>

The ATP will be advised of the outcome of the review in writing.
